LENT

Lent is the 40 days (not including Sundays) from Ash Wednesday to the Saturday before Easter. Lent is often referred to as a time of preparation and an opportunity to go deeper with God. This means that it's a time for personal reflection that prepares people's hearts and minds for Good Friday and Easter.

Ash Wednesday (February 18, 2026) is the first day of Lent. The smudge of ashes we get on our foreheads symbolizes grief for the things we've done wrong and the resulting division of imperfect people from a perfect God. They are also a symbol of the dust from which we were made and a reminder that our life on Earth is temporary and that our bodies will eventually return to that dust.

The three main things people focus on during Lent are prayer, fasting (abstaining from something to reduce distractions and focus more on God) and giving or charity.

Prayer during Lent focuses on our need for God's forgiveness. It's also about repenting, or turning away from our sins, and receiving God's mercy and love.

Fasting, or giving something up, is a very common thing people talk about during Lent. The idea is that giving up something that's a regular part of our lives, like eating dessert or scrolling through social media, can be a reminder of Jesus' sacrifice. That time can also be replaced with more time connecting with God.

Giving money or doing something good for others is a way to respond to God's grace, generosity, and love. For example, people may spend time volunteering or donate money they would normally use to buy something, like their morning coffee.

It's important to note that doing these things can never make us earn or deserve Jesus' sacrifice or a relationship with God. People are flawed and will never be good enough for a perfect God. Only Jesus has the power to rescue us from ourselves.

Jesus sacrificed himself on Good Friday to bear the punishment of all our wrongdoings and offer us forgiveness. He was raised from the dead on Easter Sunday to give us an opportunity to have a relationship with God for eternity.

Spending time during Lent praying, fasting, and giving can make Jesus' sacrifice on Good Friday and his resurrection on Easter even more meaningful.

CAMP CHAPEL NEWS

FROM THE VOLUNTEER COORDINATOR

To paraphrase President John F. Kennedy, “Ask not what Camp Chapel can do for you --- ask what you can do for Camp Chapel, our congregation, and for our community.” As we begin a new calendar year, it’s time to look at expanding, refreshing, and renewing our volunteer pool. There are so many opportunities available to make a difference in the lives of those in our own community, even within our church, and some that you might not even know about!

With the blessing of the Church Council, I have volunteered (ironic, right?) to take on a new role as Volunteer Coordinator. This happens to mirror the last position I held in my working career. My first step will be to meet with ministry, project, and fundraiser leaders to better understand their needs for volunteer help. Then I will meet individually with as many congregants as possible to learn about their areas of interest, skills, and general availability. Last, with this information, I will develop and maintain a database to utilize in matching up volunteers to identified needs.

Camp Chapel has always been blessed with a core of dedicated volunteers, and please be assured that our appreciation for them is unwavering. Most will tell you they feel they receive more from volunteering than they feel they give. One of many examples is Keith and Josh Klemm who annually commit their time and energy to the Baltimore County Christian Workcamp. Keith says, “I am committed to volunteering with the Baltimore County Christian Work Camp for a number of reasons. I feel strongly that Christian faith is about doing, not just talking. We are supposed to help others whenever possible, and this is a way for me to put my skills and experience toward a worthwhile cause. Furthermore, I get to share these experiences with my family, who works alongside me, and I get to make lots of memories with other church volunteers who also participate. I truly look forward to this event every year.” Josh (age 15) says, “I feel committed to the BCCW because it allows me to help those in need while teaching them about the wonders of Christ. I also enjoy being able to build structures that are meaningful while gathering with people I know.”

This is the first of other testimonials to come. What will yours be? What new volunteer adventure will you take on? There are so many possibilities for you to spread your wings and to be a disciple for Christ. And we will help you take the next step.

Blessings,
Pat Ryan

SOUPER BOWL OF CARING SUNDAYS

The Perry Hall Community Food Pantry continues to distribute food on a weekly basis to local families in need. Now that the holidays have passed and other charitable groups aren't having food drives, their inventory is running low. With NFL Super Bowl Sunday approaching, it's the perfect time to kick off the SOUPER BOWL OF CARING!

On Sunday, February 1 and/or 8, please bring in any of the items listed below or a monetary donation in any amount by cash or check made payable to Camp Chapel. The collection area will be visible in the front of the sanctuary and the chapel. Monetary donations and food items are welcome and appreciated at any time on an ongoing basis.

FOOD ITEMS REQUESTED:

- Canned pasta (ravioli, spaghetti, etc.)
- Canned beef chili with beans
- Canned vegetables (carrots, potatoes, mixed)
- Canned black beans or kidney beans
- Saltine Crackers
- Diced tomatoes
- Peanut butter

AS ALWAYS, THANK YOU FOR YOUR GENEROUS SUPPORT OF THIS IMPORTANT MINISTRY.

Mike and Pat Ryan

CREATION CARE UPDATE

Creation Care - New Ideas - <https://umcreationjustice.org/january-2026-tips-beginning-again/>

John Wesley began a New Year tradition of leading people in renewing their covenant with God. At the very beginning, God gave us a garden to tend and till.

- Choose new things you can do throughout the year to care for creation.
- Choose aluminum cans not plastic bottles. Technically, both are recyclable; however, due to multiple factors, aluminum is MORE likely to be recycled into new products.
- Stop wearing plastic. Are you surprised? Synthetic fibers from clothing are a significant contribution to microplastic pollution. Go back to nature – wool, cotton, silk, and even bamboo and hemp. Plastic doesn't go away.

Now is the time to renew your commitment to be good stewards of Earth.

DEPARTED

David Franklin Whitson

January 31, 1944 – January 14, 2026

On January 14, 2026, David F. Whitson peacefully passed away. He was the beloved husband for over 42 years to Kathryn “Kathy” Whitson (nee Keeney).

Dave was born and raised in Brooklyn Park and went to the University of Maryland, graduating as a business major with a minor in history. He was an avid Civil War buff and reenactor. Dave served as captain in the Baltimore City Fire Department for 22 years.

Dave is the devoted father of Michael D. Whitson, Jeffrey C. Cook, his wife Valerie; loving grandfather of Grant Cook, Aaron Cook, Samantha Marquez, Lindsay Safir, Sarah Dudley; cherished great grandfather of Adam and Lilly.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made in David’s name to the music fund at the Camp Chapel United Methodist Church.

Mary Lynn Lentz

March 10, 1936 – January 16, 2026

Mary Lynn “Myrt” Lentz (nee Wootten) is the beloved wife of seventy years of Robert W. Lentz. She and Bob met in Ocean City as teenagers. They attended the 8:30 worship service until they were unable. Friends knew her to be a gracious hostess. She was the neighborhood mom and grandmom and she will be missed. She loved art.

She is the devoted mother of Patti Lynn Williams and husband Robbie and Gary J. Lentz and wife Jennifer; loving grandmother of Jessi Riggin, Mitchell Williams, Shawn Williams, Abigail LoGiudici, and the late Austin Lentz; cherished great-grandmother of Cameron Riggin, Landon Riggin, Skyler Riggin, Blake Williams, Sage Williams, Brady Williams, Jaxon Williams, Raelynn Williams, Maya Williams, Maverick LoGiudici, and Lainey Lynn LoGiudici; and dear sister of the late Richard Wootten.

Snow and Ice Policy

In the event of inclement winter weather (snow or ice), we may have to close the church. During the week, any time Baltimore County schools close for winter weather, all activities at the church are cancelled. Saturday events are cancelled if a snow emergency is in effect. Sunday worship will be cancelled to protect our members' safety if our parking lot and walks cannot be safely cleared. The decision about cancellation of worship is made the evening before based on information we have at that time. Safety is always a priority. Announcements of closure will be posted on our website and on the church office answering machine.

Devotion for Home and at Camp Chapel Gatherings

Read, reflect, listen deeply.

Lots of ideas were shared in the January devotion. If you would like to reread or reference, you can pick a copy up at church, access prior Acorns from our website or call the office for a copy. Before we travel on to new messages, let's take time to reflect on the intertwining themes of Peace, Extra Jesus and Being a Fool for Jesus.

- How do the words of Pastor Caleb Pitkin help you envision Peace in our community; World Peace?
 - How can I offer myself to make peace possible? What's in my way to envisioning peace?
 - Camp Chapel offers much. How can we work for peace locally and globally?
- What does our Bishop Trimble mean when he says this is a time for Extra Jesus?
 - What are ways I can be extra loving?
 - Camp Chapel offers much. How can we increase our work as the loving hand of Jesus?
- What does Jill Duffield mean to be a Fool for Christ?
 - How can I step into being a more loving fool?
 - Camp Chapel offers much. As fools for Jesus, how are we called to offer our loving hearts, souls and hands?

With Peace and Blessings,
Kathy Martin

What Would You Change?

I had brunch with an old friend the other day. We do this maybe six or seven times a year, and it's always fun to share a meal with her, to catch up with each other's lives and families, to pick each other's brains. It's especially comfortable to be together this way because we are almost exactly the same age – she was born just two days after I was. We can commiserate with one another over the joys and difficulties of growing older at about the same pace.

It helps that we have, in our separate ways, evolved to have mostly similar outlooks on living, spiritually, politically, and in other ways. Yet, being different genders, raised in different parts of the country, having had different faith journeys, having crafted different careers, and having come from very different families, we each bring our own perspective to our conversations, so that even in our agreeing, we manage to surprise one another with the different ways in which we have arrived at mostly the same place. I never fail to find her insights refreshing and thought provoking, and I invariably come away from our encounters feeling enriched.

Part of our most recent conversation centered on the question: “If you were able to live your life over again from the start, what would you change?” Have you ever thought about that?

Here are some of my own reflections that I bet might apply to most of you reading this. We are all products of every event in our past, the best and the worst. I have accomplished things that I can look back upon with some measure of justified satisfaction. All of those have contributed to who I am today. I have also done things – made choices – in my life that I am not proud of. But I can honestly say that most of those less-than-stellar moments have resulted in lessons I learned and changes I made. There are some others, though, that, I confess, I didn't learn from. I have always believed it's not necessarily a sin to make a mistake, but it's definitely a sin to make the same mistake more than once, and I can think of a few of those as well, and some of them haunt me. But those are a part of the person that I became too, and I would be dishonest if I wasn't able to own both the good and the bad.

So if I were given the opportunity to go back over my entire life and edit it...

The thing is, I have come to realize that any change would result in other changes. There are always consequences that follow – some great, some smaller – and they cause a ripple effect. For example, what if I decided to go to a different high school? That would mean a large set of people who were important influences on my life, teachers, staff, classmates, and even the girls I dated would be swapped out for strangers. My learning experience would have been impacted in a significant way, which could have influenced my choice of a college, and a different college changes out another even bigger number of people and experiences. In turn, that would most likely impact my career choices, which, for me, would change the person I would marry, the children I have, the city I live in, the church I am a member of... I wouldn't be writing and you wouldn't be reading this essay! In fact, there's a possibility that I would not even survive to this age in that alternate reality! That's a sobering thought.

Of course, this is just a mental exercise, but when you think about it, the choices we all make as we move from day to day – even the ones we don't think are consequential – determine the possible courses of our lives, selecting one path from many possible ones and eliminating all the others forever. The singular path that we select can be thought of as a set of opportunities that we have gained, like the amazing set of experiences that enriched my life because I chose to go to Loyola. However, at the same time we lose a myriad of other experiences that would affect us in different ways, maybe for the better, maybe for the worse, as I missed out on all the things I would have learned, all the friends I might have made – and possibly enemies – had I gone to Calvert Hall instead. Nothing is gained without something else being lost.

For me, I like where I am today. If you are happy and content with what is, why change something and possibly lose that? So, my answer to my friend's question was easy for me. Given the chance to live my life over, I would do it all again. I'd make all the same choices and accept all the same pleasures, the same pains, the same good and bad decisions, the same embarrassments, the same joys and sorrows, the same inspirations, the same stupid errors – all of it! That's the only way I could guarantee I'd be the same version of me that is typing this.

Although I might risk taking a touch-typing course to make writing these a little faster. And piano. I wish I had taken up a musical instrument. I might risk learning to play the piano.

Bill Smith

I cannot express my appreciation and thanks enough for all the prayers and caring for the health issues I've encountered with cancer and my heart. At the same time, I wish to express my thanks and gratitude for the very generous Christmas bonus. Camp Chapel is always in my thoughts and prayers, and it has been a blessing to act as Director of Music for the last 40 years.

Gary Lushbaugh

I would like to extend my heartfelt appreciation to Camp Chapel UMC for the generous and thoughtful Christmas staff bonus. Your kindness and support mean more to me than I can ever express. I am truly grateful and feel very blessed to be part of such a caring, faithful & generous church family.

Courtnee Cirri,
Office Administrator

I want to express my sincerest thanks to everyone for their acts of kindness when my husband, David, passed away. Your cards, texts, calls and kind words are very comforting.
